

Fashion design

*Vivienne Westwood and Malcolm McLaren
Bondage suit
1976
Machine-sewn cotton*

This bondage suit in black cotton was designed by Vivienne Westwood and Malcolm McLaren for their Spring/Summer collection in 1976. It consists of a genderless matching two-piece jacket and trousers. The trousers have a zippered seam under the crotch and a detachable black towelling 'bum flap' and 'hobble' straps. The look is completed with black boots and a beret and handkerchief depicting the Sex Pistols logo. The outfit borrows elements from army combat gear, the motorcyclist's Belstaff and fetish wear, and was the archetypal Punk outfit popularised by bands like the Sex Pistols.

Bondage suit in black cotton featuring zips, roomy pockets and non-functional straps with snap fastenings, D-rings and spring links.